SCOPE AND OBJECTIVE:

The event is an effort to provide a platform for practitioners to share their experiences on ensuring land rights for different vulnerable sections of society. It will focus on how different strategies have been used by people in their struggle to ensure land rights. It will identify challenges faced by various social movements in the process of ensuring that the Dalits, women and Muslims are able to access their land rights. It will draw upon lessons from practical experience of what works and what does not work in terms of strategies and practices. The event will have an expert to give a broad thematic over view followed by group discussion amongst participants to cull out experiential learning.

PARTICIPANTS:

The event can be attended by Advocates and Activists practicing on the issue of land rights.

All participants will be awarded a certificate of participation.

Centre for Social Justice

Centre for Social Justice (“CSJ”), established in 1993, is a human rights organisation fighting for the rights of the marginalised and vulnerable. Inspired by Freirean thought, CSJ has been active in more than ten states across India making human rights interventions by using law as a key strategy through an intimate engagement with grassroots’ realities. CSJ fulfills its mandate by training and strengthening community lawyers and paralegals by building their capacities to deliver change-inducing leadership in their communities through a network of law centres; one of CSJ’s core competencies relates to their capacity-building initiatives, a flagship example being their Lawyers For Change (“LFC”) fellowship programme. A pioneer in the field of access to justice, CSJ has also made path-breaking institutional interventions in the form of research, legal reforms and initiatives bringing together grassroots activism, law and policy-making on a wide array of issues affecting women, dalits, adivasis, minorities and other socio-economically vulnerable groups.
